AUTO ACCIDENT ON OLD SPANISH TRAIL CLAIMS TWO LIVES

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ray of New Orleans, Victims of Automobile Accident Sunday — Son Suffers Minor Injuries—Party Taken to New Orleans by Bay St. Louis Men in Truck.

Mrs. Stanley Ray, 41 years old, 25 Audubon Boulevard, New Orleans, was fatally injured; her husband, 45, attorney and former commissioner of public safety, received a fractured skull, and Staig Ray, 13, a son, was hurt, when their automobile overturned on the Old Spanish Trail about 10 miles west of Bay St. Louis, about noon, Sunday.

Blowout of a rear tire was blamed for the accident, though the machine had recently been equipped with four new tires.

Mrs. Ray died enroute to Charity hospital in New Orleans in a Mobile Express, Inc. truck which had passed the scene of the accident on the way to New Orleans.

The truck manned by Elliot Besancon, 21, the driver and Earl Luxich, 21, a helper, both of Bay St. Louis, carried also to the hospital the two other victims of the accident in a wild dash via the new short cut highway, which ordinarily is barred to heavy traffic.

State Highway Patrolman "Red" Allen of Slidell directed Besancon to use the shorter route, but twice the machine was halted by other state patrolmen. As soon as they took in the situation, the latter sped the truck toward its destination, and one patrolman rode ahead as an escort as far as the beginning of the four-lane highway.

Mrs. Ray was believed to have died during the one hour and 10-minute drive to the city. An autopsy made by Dr. Robert H. Potts, assistant coroner, showed that she died of hemorrhage and shock resulting from internal injuries. She suffered also severe bruise burns on both sides of the body.

Mr. Ray and his son were treated at the hospital and held for further observation to determine the seriousness of their injuries.

Mr. Ray died Tuesday night at the hospital where his condition was undetermined, and Tuesday night died from results of his injuries.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at New Orleans. Deceased was once managing editor of the New Orleans Times-Picayune and former city commissioner of New Orleans.

He was a native of Joplin, Mo., and came to New Orleans in 1910 from the Arkansas Gazette at Little Rock, Ark., and worked as political reporter and sports editor before he became managing editor of the Times-Picayune.

He left that post in 1920 to become secretary to Governor John M. Parker and shortly afterwards was elected commissioner of public safety of New Orleans, serving a four-year term under the late Mayor Andrew J. McShane.

While serving as commissioner, he studied law at Loyola University and opened law offices when his term expired.

SALES TAX TOKENS PUT INTO CIRCULATION WEDNESDAY, JULY 1

Shoppers in Bay St. Louis stores Wednesday as well as in other towns throughout the state found the merchants supplied with the state's new brass and aluminum sales tax tokens which went into general use that day.

The two local banks received a copious supply of the sales tax "money" in advance of the date for the tokens to be placed in circulation and merchants were reported to have been purchasing the tokens with rapidity.

The use of the sales tax token is designed to enable the merchant to "pass the sales tax on" to the consumer and likewise to enable the consumer to pay the exact sales tax due.

The tokens, shiny little disks with square holes in their center, will enable the purchaser from the retail store to pay the exact amount of sales tax as provided for under the 2 per cent tax law.

The banks sell the tokens to the business houses, which in turn dispose of them to their customers as purchases are made.

LIBRARY TAG DAY SUCCESS

Donations to Library Continue — Will Display Geological Specimens

The annual Tag Day for the benefit of the Hancock County Free Library was held on Saturday, June 27, with gratifying results. The drive was under the supervision of Mrs. Carl Marshall, Miss Louise Crawford and Miss Virginia Chapman. Assisting them were the Misses Carolyn Marshall, Josie Rita Olson, Ida Tudury, Mildred Carver, Emelida Bourgeois, Lavinia and Elsa Bourgeois, Lyndal da Ponte, and Rose Mary Keen. Thirty-one dollars and ninety-seven cents was collected for the book fund.

Miss Florence Keen has given a splendid library table, as a tribute to the memory of Mary Louise Crawford.

Mrs. Gus Terry presented the library with a Globe-Wernecke glass-fronted case in which there will be on display a small but interesting group of geological specimens from the collection of the late Dr. J. G. Charlee of Indiana. There are a few unusual fossils, notably feathery fronds of fern, white tracery on gray limestone, a stone snail-shell, a fossilized clam which except for being solid limestone might have been dug from the mud yesterday. There are several prehistoric stone implements, relics of long-forgotten aborigines of the Ohio Valley, axes, a throwing hatchet, scrapers for dressing leather, pestles and a quern for grinding corn. Crystals of quartz and feldspar, and glittering shards of geodes are flanked by polished Brazilian agate and "tiger-eye." One rather unusual piece is a slab of petrified wood which oddly enough, through some trick of iron seepage into the limestone, retains its original wood color.

And there is one glistening black specimen, semi-iridescent in the sunlight, which has been the subject of wide guessing among those who have seen it unlabeled. The names given it have ranged all the way from lead ore to English jet. As a matter of fact, it is a piece of Pennsylvania anthracite coal.

SOFTBALL GAMES ARE POPULAR

City Commissioner W. L. Bourgeois Throws First Ball of Opening Game Next Games To-night.

Softball has taken Bay St. Louis by storm. Each week new teams are entering the already formed league and night games at the St. Stanislaus stadium are attracting many fans.

At present there are eight teams in the league with the Commissioners leading. Following are results of games already played and the schedule for future games.

The Softball League of Bay St. Louis got under way Thursday night at S. S. C. Stadium. The Honorable W. L. Bourgeois pitched the first ball, a perfect strike over the heart of the plate, to open the games.

The opening game found the Racketeers clashing with the Cedar Point Stars. J. V. Bontemps was on the mound for the Racketeers while Kearney Bourgeois did the hurling for the Cedar Point boys. The Racketeers were hot that night, and knocked the ball to all corners of the lot, while J. V. held his opponents to 4 hits.

The second game of that night brought the Knights of Columbus and the Commissioners together. The politicians were too much for the Knights and the game ended with the Knights on the short end of a 13 to 2 score. Theo Tudury hurled a good game, but the errors on the part of his teammates were too costly.

Commissioner Perkins allowed 8 scattered hits, and had the Knights well under control at all times.

Friday night found a much improved Mobile Express Team meeting the Shell Oil, and this turned out to be one of the most interesting games. The Shell Oil team was rather lucky to win by three runs. Arceneaux pitched three innings and then turned the duties over to Walter Gex, Jr., Cotton Collier went the route for the Expressmen.

The second game of Friday night was easy for the Clerks. They simply wrapped the Mid-City Stars in a little bundle and tied them up. The Clerks used three pitchers, Sylvan Ladner, Jack Ladner and Nolan Ladner. The Stars could only touch them for three hits, however two of the bingles went for home runs. At the present writing the Clerks seem to have about the strongest club in the league.

The Y. M. H. A. of New Orleans met an all-star team picked from the league, on Sunday night, June 28th. This was a real battle with the Hebrews winning 7 to 4. Bontemps and Tudury pitched for the All-Stars, while Kauffman was on the mound for the Y. M. H. A. The All-Stars were limited to 5 hits and 4 runs; while the Hebrews gathered 7 hits and 7 runs. These two teams will meet again Sunday, July 5th, at the hour of eight. The fans will see a real game when these teams get together Sunday night.

The Racketeers and the Knights of Columbus staged a struggle Monday night, but the Knights finally vanquished the gamblers 17 to 10. The Racketeers were off form that night, while the Knights played tight ball. G. Y. Blaize was behind the bat and Bontemps pitched for the Racketeers. Tudury pitched and Scafide received for the Knights.

The Commissioners took the lead of the league when they downed the Cedar Point Stars 16 to 10 Monday night. The batteries were, Phillips and Steckman for the Commissioners; Bourgeois and Johnson for the Stars. The politicians were trailing for a while, but when the reports of the last inning came in they carried the score easily.

The hitting honors of the week went to G. Y. Blaize, Jr., who was at bat 8 times, gathering 8 hits, one of them a homer, and scored 7 runs. That is something for the boys to shoot at.

Coming Games

Friday night, July 3rd. The Clerks meet the Mobile Express, and the same night the Mid-City Stars will meet the Shell Oil.

The game between the Clerks and the Mobile Express should be a good one judging from the showing the Expressmen made against the Shell Oil. The Mid-City Stars have signed four new players, hence they are expected to make it hot for the Shell team.

Sunday Night, July 5th. The All-Star team will meet the Y. M. H. A., an experienced team from New Orleans.

Monday, July 6th. The K. of C's meet the Cedar Point Stars, while the Commissioners take on the Racketeers.

Scheduled double headers will be held every Monday and Friday nights. The league expects to have additional lights erected for these games, and this feature should make the games fast and interesting.

ASSUMES ROLE OF ACTING GOVERNOR IN WHITE'S ABSENCE

LIEUT-GOV. J. B. SNIDER. Assuming the role of acting Governor while Governor White was attending the National Democratic Convention, Lieutenant-Governor J. B. Snider arrived in Jackson, "to act only in emergency matters."

The acting governor went to Jackson at Governor's White's request following his appearance before the State Convention of the American Legion at Greenville, where he represented Governor White and solicited the co-operation of the ex-service men's organization in the Chief Executive's Program to "Balance Agriculture with Industry."

The first "emergency matter" brought to his attention came in the form of a petition from E. E. Davis, serving a term in the State Penitentiary for burglary, for a suspension of sentence to attend the funeral of his two children who were drowned. A ten-day sentence was granted to Davis by the acting governor, who stopped at Parchman enroute to Senatobia, from Greenville and learned the convict had just received a telegram containing the news of the tragedy.

N. E. A. PRESIDENT.

THE news of the election of Mr. Clayton Rand, our neighboring editor and publisher of Gulfport, Miss., as president of the National Editorial Association, has been received with glad acclaim by his many friends here and along the Mississippi Gulf Coast as well as the national newspaper fraternity in general.

Mr. Rand is deserving of this high position and The Echo joins the many to offer congratulations.

The following is what the staff of his own paper, The Gulfport Guide, has to say of Mr. Rand:

From Maine comes word that Clayton Rand has been elected president of the National Editorial Association.

While he would doubtless crack his newly acquired gavel across our cranium if he knew we were parading his name in print across the pages of his own paper, we cannot pass up the opportunity to congratulate him on his election and Gulfport on having one of her own citizens as head of so potent a group.

No N. E. A. officer of recent years has been more definitely identified as a booster for his home town than the new president. His cloud-riding eulogies on zephyrs and ozone, oak trees and oysters, stars and silver strands have become something of an expected and popular interruption at national editorial conventions.

We are convinced that to N. E. A. Clayton Rand will give the best that is in him. Practical champion of the highest ideals of the Fourth Estate, exponent of integrity and aggressiveness on the printed page, he brings to his new work the enthusiasm of a crusader and the experience of long years in the ranks.

We may not see much of him this next year. He has a weakness for disregarding both time and distance when opportunities for service arise.

Proudly his own staff presents him to the larger field in which he will toil during the next twelve months. We have no fear for the success of his administration, for his heart is in the work.

NOT ALWAYS FOOLISH

THERE are people in every community that object to regulations of all kinds, whether they relate to driving automobiles, building houses or other activities relating to the safety of inhabitants of crowded areas, and Bay St. Louis is no exception to the rule.

The question is often asked in the minds of these citizens whether regulations and restrictions are not too rigid, whether they do not represent an excess zeal for protection from improbable dangers and whether the cost of compliance is not too high.

The question is not being asked by the families of sixteen men, who were recently killed when a building, being erected in a large city, collapsed. These families want to know why the structure was not safe for their loved ones. It will be the same in Bay St. Louis if some serious accident results from allowing one-eyed autos, drunken and careless drivers, to run at large and short cuts in complying with regulations designed to protect the public.

RECEIVES NEW HONORS.

APPOINTED as a delegate to the Congress of American Poets and as a member of the National Poetry Commission representing Mississippi were the honors bestowed upon David E. Guyton, of Blue Mountain, Mississippi, last week.

Being totally blind the honors given Mr. Guyton are of more than ordinary significance. Gov. Hugh White last week also appointed Mr. Guyton a member of the State Blind Commission for a four-year term.

The readers of The Sea Coast Echo probably do not know Mr. Guyton personally, but have become acquainted with him through his many poems which have been published in these columns from time to time and which have been immensely enjoyed. His poems are truly beautiful, humorous, educational and inspirational.

Congratulations on your appointments and best wishes for your success, Mr. Guyton.

ANY DAY WILL DO FOR A START

IT is hard to realize that the long days of summer are at hand, and that from this month on the hours of daylight begin to recede, until in six months we come again to the year's shortest day.

There are so many plans in our hearts for our own development, for the growth of our business, and the improvement of Bay St. Louis that we are sometimes prone to think that time flies too fast. We should remember that the only way to accomplish anything is by making a start.

Today, long or short, is the day to begin. Let every reader of this article, if so moved, spend the rest of 1936 in trying to make effective the happy dreams that sprang up when it began. Such time will be well spent.

One preacher says that the main trouble with young people today is the lack of real, honest-to-God parents.

SPEED CAUSES DEATH

WITH motor traffic increasing constantly and the roads of this section of the Coast becoming more and more congested the number of auto accidents naturally continue to increase. Hardly a week passes without some auto fatality reported especially on the Old Spanish Trail between Bay St. Louis and New Orleans.

Just last week Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ray of New Orleans were fatally injured, the former a prominent attorney and their son, seriously hurt. A blowout of a rear tire was given as the cause of the accident, and it was reported that the car was traveling at a high rate of speed at the time of the accident about ten miles west of Bay St. Louis.

With a record of 37,000 motor vehicle fatalities last year it is time for us to seek the real cause and to apply remedial measures, if possible.

Since 1927, we are advised by the National Safety Council, deaths resulting from the collision of cars, has increased 142 per cent. It is noted that the speed of automobiles has been greatly accelerated during this period. Pedestrians, killed as easily at slower speeds, have died at an increasing rate but the increase has been only 29 per cent.

Moreover, the figures show that at speeds under 20 miles an hour only one accident out of 61 is fatal. Increasing speed, however, pushes up the death rate. At 20 to 29 miles an hour one accident in 42 is fatal; at 30 to 39, one in 35; at 40 to 49, one in 25; over 50, one in 11.

Pointing out these facts does not answer the problem of automobile fatalities. While speed may be more dangerous, and it is, the average American, with an amazing fatalism, has accepted the risks of speed and will probably continue to take his chances. Any policy of highway regulation that seeks to severely limit the speed of automobiles is destined to be disappointing.

Recognizing that this is the case it seems vital that emphasis be placed upon factors that can be regulated and restricted. These include examination of drivers, and of vehicles, with rigid and positive elimination of those that are defective and dangerous. It embraces well defined traffic regulations that can be enforced through the systematic punishment of those who violate them.

The situation is serious. There are some owners of automobiles who hesitate to take long trips because they are afraid of other drivers on the highways. They are reasonable drivers but they cannot protect themselves from those who drive recklessly as well as fast.

GIVING UP LIFE TO HONOR LIBERTY

JULY 4th as usual will be celebrated at Bay St. Louis to the fullest extent. Bathing, fishing, boating and many other enjoyments may be participated in in a safe and sane way, by the thousands of visitors expected to come to the Mississippi Gulf Coast and especially to the Bay-Waveland section.

There are too many other ways to celebrate than with the use of fireworks and fire-arms. Be Safe!

A celebration is a dangerous thing, according to the figures that reveal that more Americans in the last thirty observations of the Fourth of July, have died as a result of fireworks accidents than were killed in the entire Revolutionary War.

It seems that 4,290 patriotic Americans have bitten the dust in the past thirty years while celebrating the independence of their nation by the discharge of fireworks, where as, on the other hand, only 4,044 Americans were killed in the great struggle to set up a nation.

In the same period, we learn from the United States Conference of Mayors, sixteen times as many people were injured by fireworks as were wounded during the struggle against the British.

However, there are two sides to the debate. If free Americans wish to give up life in celebrating liberty what patriot arises to say they must not have the privilege of dying in order to perpetuate the right of citizens to explode dynamite in the form of fire crackers on the public streets and thoroughfares?

BELLYACHES

TURN your mind along the path of memory, and you may recall this childhood jingle:

"A little fly flew past my door,
Right into the grocery store.
He ate so much jelly-cake,
It made his little belly ache."

The verse says nothing about the bellyaches that afflicted humans after eating fly-blown jelly-cake and other foods, but there were plenty of them. The old-time grocery store, as a matter of fact, was an unsanitary marvel. The storekeeper customarily brushed the flies off the cheese before cutting you a slice. His cakes and breads were exposed to the ravages of any passing insect, as were his fruits and vegetables. What a chemical analysis of his cracker barrel would have disclosed in the way of foreign elements is unimaginable.

Contrast today's up-to-date grocery stores of Bay St. Louis with those of yesterday. Foods are protected by glass. Refrigeration keeps perishables in the best of condition. Syphons freshen fruits and vegetables. Bread and pastries come wrapped. It's pretty thin pickings for a present day fly.

The modern grocery systems were largely responsible for this change. In order to attract customers most sanitary display equipment has been installed. Show cases and refrigerators have been put in to protect and preserve foods.

So the fly that flies past your door today will probably fly past the grocery store also, and this will save him, and maybe you, a stomach ache.

The greatest movement on foot in America is that of the pedestrians trying to get out of the way of speeding automobiles. The best way to dodge the thousands of cars traveling over the O. S. T. on week ends is to take to the woods.

IT'S TRUE!

THE MOTORIST'S PRAYER

"Grant me a steady hand and watchful eye, that no man shall be hurt when I pass by," starts the Motorist's Prayer. The prayer first appeared in the London Church Times.

The Prayer is a reminder that good driving is a Christian obligation. It follows:

Grant me a steady hand and watchful eye,
That no man shall be hurt when I pass by.

Thou gavest life, and I pray no act of mine
May take away or mar that gift of thine.

Shelter those, dear Lord, who bear me company,
From the evils of fire and all calamity.

Teach me to use my car for others' need,
Nor miss through love of speed
The beauties of thy world; that thus I may,
With joy and courtesy go my way.

Doctor—Are you ever troubled by ringing in your ears?
Patient—Oh, yes; my wife's words are always ringing in my ears and they trouble me terribly.

Leave it to The Cook
Mr. Brownlight—We simply must keep the cook.
Mrs. Brownlight—Why, dear?
Mr. Brownlight—We've got to have police protection somehow.

"I think that's a perfectly wonderful piano you have."
"It is a grand piano."

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING OF MEN AND MATTERS IN EDITORIAL EXPRESSION

AN INCIDENT OF THE DAY

(Jackson, Miss.) Daily News)
DOWN at Waynesboro, this state, a negro farm hand insulted a 17-year-old white girl—made to her an indecent proposal.

Father of the girl killed the negro. Then he went to the sheriff's office, surrendered, turned over the gun, and told why he did it.

A coroner's jury was summoned. Verdict returned said: "Justifiable homicide."

Tell that to the American Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Yes, tell it to some well-meaning but very silly Southern women who have been organizing societies down here in Dixie to protect against lynchings—long and windy resolutions written on the subject that newspaper men toss into waste baskets.

Such societies would not exist if not financed by people who know nothing whatever about our problems down here in the Deep South—a bunch of hirelings who run around with their tongues hanging out making speeches.

Down here in the Deep South, despite the many troubles that beset us, we try to protect our women.

HIT AND RUN DRIVER SETS A GHASTLY RECORD

(Jackson Clarion-Ledger)

A CLEVELAND automobile driver, identity not revealed by the news item, set what may be a national record for hit-and-run maimings.

He seriously injured 18 men when he ran through a group of about 35 steel workers who were waiting to board a street car. The bodies were scattered 20 to 30 feet along the street.

If he is caught and convicted, he may get an adequate sentence, if he is tried separately on each of the 18 maimings.

Eighteen victims at one time may be a national record, but even in a city the size of Jackson, on a crowded street, a reckless or drunken driver takes chances of killing several victims at one time.

Drunken and reckless driving often is the equivalent of plural murder.

OVER-CONFIDENCE

(Slidell News)

CONFIDENCE in one's self and the knowledge that one can attain an objective, is the greatest asset a person can possess.

While, on the other hand, over-confidence has shattered the fondest hopes of many a person, who was apparently destined to reach the greatest height in their chosen field.

The truth of this is found in the recent Schmelling-Louis fight. Sports writers, generally held to the opinion that Louis could win at will.

Louis had this belief, in fact he had reached a point of confidence which made him feel a sense of superhuman power in short he didn't believe that there was a present-day fighter who was his equal, and certainly no superior.

This attitude was his ruin. It ruined a promising career. There is no doubt about Louis being finished. His over-confidence has taken its toll. One of the sad features of over-confidence is, that when once defeated, all confidence vanishes, leaving in its wake a weakening in place of what was at one time, a confident power to be reckoned with.

Have confidence in yourself by all means, yet at all times remember that ego and self-confidence are as far apart as the two poles of the earth, and have less in common.

Self-confidence is that which spurs on to achievement with a belief that you can succeed, but at the same time ever mindful of the possibility of defeat. If possessed of those traits one can take it on the chin, come up smiling and try again. While on the other hand if the background is ego, it is false confidence and defeat is a disillusion that in most cases means complete surrender.

In Re Pullmans

The following editorial was taken from the Jackson, (Miss.) Daily News news and contains interesting matter regarding the Pullman Company.

Here are figures that will fuddle—unless you have a fancy for figures. Pullman Company, one of the largest corporations in the world, is also our largest housekeeper.

No masculine or feminine gender for the Pullman Company. It remains passively neutral.

The Pullman Company has nearly four million towels on hand at all times—not counting in those carried off by thieving passengers.

The Pullman Company has over two million bed sheets, 1,750,000 pillow slips, a same or similar number of pillows, 250,000 mattresses, and 150,000 jackets for porters.

Are you getting dizzy with figures? All right let's quit.

The Pullman Company owns more than 9,000,000 pieces of linen and to keep that huge stock going it is necessary to buy about 2,000,000 more pieces per year.

Listen a little longer and get more dizziness!

The Pullman Company owns and operates more than 5,000 cars. They roll somewhere every day in the year. Their journey over more than 3,000,000 miles of track.

Each Pullman porter, when setting forth with his car, carries 400 towels, 250 sheets, 200 pillow slips, 56 blankets, in the locker.

Gosh, the laundry bill must be something awful!

No wonder the Pullman Company is neither masculine nor feminine. It can't afford to have gender.

ATHLETE DROWNS AFTER FALL FROM SAILBOAT IN GULF

Pasquale Bertucci, 28 years old, coast athlete, was drowned Monday night after he had fallen into the water from the deck of a small sailboat.
